

Materials & Objects:

What do researchers at UCL study?

An afternoon of talks by UCL's student engagers

Thursday 18th May 2017, 2-4 pm, UCL Art Museum, South Cloisters

Images (clockwise): Gordon Museum Brain Collection at the Grant Museum UCL; Engraving of skeleton of thorax, pelvis, arms and legs, V0007904EL, Wellcome Library, London; Lectures on Chemistry by Charles Blagden, Wellcome Library; Petrie Museum Interior UCL, Bamberg, Staatsbibliothek, Msc. Patr. 4, f. 69r.

Join our enthusiastic PhD students for a series of short talks centred on the materials and objects behind their interdisciplinary research!

14.00 Introduction

14.05 Marvelling at Medieval Manuscripts
Arendse Lund

14.20 Paper Technologies: 18th century notebooks and diaries
Hannah Wills

14.35 Invisible Boxes: Shaping the materials of archives and collections
Kyle Lee-Crossett

14.50 Studying Illegal Objects
Cerys Bradley

15.05 How to Build a Brain in the Lab
Citlali Helenes González

15.20 Shopping Around in the Ice Age: Where did Neanderthals get their stuff??
Josie Mills

15.35 Standing on One Foot: How bone reacts to activity
Stacy Hackner

15:50 Closing discussion and questions

This event is FREE to attend, and will be followed by tea and refreshments.

Website: <https://blogs.ucl.ac.uk/researchers-in-museums/>

Twitter: @ResearchEngager

Facebook: <https://www.facebook.com/UCLResearchersInMuseums/>